WILLIAMS VS. PARKER.

Next Tuesday the people of the First Congressional District will be called upon to decide between Hon. C. G. Williams and Hon. C. H. Parker, for Congress. Of course Mr. Williams will carry the District by a large majority, and it is safe to say that Mr. Parker will not get a majority in any county in the District. It is not surprising that this should be the case. In the first place, Mr. Williams has been tried in the balance, and has never been found wanting. On the question, which is now uppermost in everybody's mind—the question as to whether we shall have a sound currency or a debased one—Mr. Williams firmly defends the right of the people in demanding a paper money that will cheat no man, and one which will march abreast with gold and silver. On this important subject he never wavers. On the stump and on the floor of Congress, he is the champion of honest money—that which will serve the people best—and of the rights of the soldiers in securing the pensions which are justly due them, and of the rights of the disfranchised white and black voters in the South. On these questions he is fearless and able and stands among the leaders in the House.

Mr. Parker has had no experience, has not the ability which fits him for Congress, and he is devoid of any settled financial principles. That political demagogue, James R. Doolittle, can change Parker's opinions at will, and the latter does not know enough, and has not courage enough to defend his own financial scheme. It is unfortunate for him that he attempts to stand on too many platforms—all at variance—that he may delude the Democrats who believe in honest money, and the Greenbackers who believe in fiat and irredeemable money. The game may be a cunning one for Doolittle and Parker to fix up, but it will prove abortive. A man who preaches, or hires to be preached, a half a dozen different financial doctrines, simply to catch votes can not go to Congress from the First District of Wisconsin. The intelligent voters of the Old First demand a man of a different stamp. A man who can not fix in his mind a policy, and stand by it through good report or evil report, who can't explain to an audience of fifty persons his opinions on finance, is not the man who can stand up in Congress, in the midst of the ablest men of the land, and grapple with the mighty questions which effect the weal or the woe of the people. For this reason Mr. Parker will not go to Congress. He will be overwhelmingly defeated by Mr. Williams.

COMSTOCK FOR SHERIFF.

John J. Comstock, the Republican candidate for Sheriff, will make one of the best officers that ever filled that important, difficult, and responsible position. He has the energy, the aptitude, the industry, the courage, and the cool, calculating judgment which are very essential in a person who would fill such an office. Every Republican should take off his coat and work for Mr. Comstock, for the reason that he will make a thorough officer, and can be relied upon. He has been connected with the Sheriff's office and the police force for some time, and understands all the details of the office. Give him the support which his qualifications merit.

SENATOR RICHARDSON.

Among the foremost men in the State Senate during the past two sessions of the Legislature, was Hon. Hamilton Richardson, the Republican candidate for re-election. It would be well impossible to point out a Senator who took a more active part in the proceedings of the Senate who did more hard work, and who accomplished more for the benefit, not only of the county but the State, than Mr. Richardson. He was always at his post, always ready to work, and knowing just how to go about his business, he proved one of the most industrious, influential, and successful Senators that ever sat in that body. He never was in the rear, but always in the front. One year ago last winter he was Chairman of the Senate Committee on Education, and it was very largely through his labors and influence, that the iniquitous school book scheme was defeated in the Senate. The scheme was to build up a monopoly at Madison more oppressive and, damming in its character than anything ever known in Wisconsin. It was a conspiracy to defraud the people for the benefit of a few jobbers. The report of Senator Richardson on the school-book bill was one of the ablest papers that ever issued from the Committee of Education. It was instrumental in defeating the job bill. The Milwaukee Commercial Times pronounced it "a most valuable contribution to the literature of the school book act."

The Milwaukee News of March 1, 1877, said: "Senator Richardson, of Rock county, chairman of the Committee on Education, presented a minority report against the bill (Hiner and Davis favoring the bill) both in its present form and with the proposed changes. His argument is an elaborate one, viewing the subject from all standpoints, and embodying all the arguments which are urged in opposition to the proposed new school book system. Senator Richardson is a clear-headed business man, whose opinions are very decided on all subjects which he investigates, and his report is a damaging blow to the prospects of the bill."

Hon. Edward Searing, ex-Superintendent of Public Instruction, after the bitter school book war ended, wrote an article for the Wisconsin Journal of Education, for April, 1877, in which he gave a history of the text-book conspiracy, for it was no less than a bold and merciless conspiracy to rob the public treasury. In giving credit to those who sought to defeat this nefarious scheme, Mr. Searing said: "Last, but not least, credit is due to the honorable chairman of the Senate Committee on Education, [Hon. H. Richardson] whose honesty, fearlessness, and persistence in opposition to the scheme was conspicuous throughout. His report against the bill was able, exhaustive and unanswerable."

Last winter other raids were attempted on the State treasury by the ring which runs the Northern Hospital for the Insane, and Mr. Richardson led the noble little band that defeated a scheme, which, had it succeeded, would have taken $400,000 out of the treasury.

This is Mr. Richardson's record, and it is a bright one. The people can't afford to lose his services in the Senate. Give him your hearty support, and return him by an increased majority.

CLERK OF THE COURT.

Mr. A. W. Baldwin has, for several years, filled the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court with unequalled qualifications to all persons with whom he has had business relations. He is a competent officer and a courteous gentleman. The bar of Rock county have paid Mr. Baldwin many a compliment, all of which he deserves. The people will endorse him by giving him a re-election by a majority which will please and gratify his numerous friends.

COUNTY SURVEYOR.

One of the best civil engineers in the West, one who did most important service to the Government during and after the war, in surveying the fields of the great battles fought in the Department of the Cumberland, and who executed twenty-two of the finest maps ever published by the Government of the United States, is Captain Edward Ruger, of this city, the Republican nominee for County Surveyor. Of course the people will elect him. He will run in by common consent.

Col. Daniels, of Virginia, a natist, is trying to convert the people of Rock county to his theory. He draws small houses, and is not otherwise successful.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

Charles L. Valentine, the Republican candidate for Register of Deeds, is one of the most popular men that ever filled an office. He is not only deeply esteemed, making friends on all hands, but he is an excellent officer. There could not be a more capable or a more faithful one, or one who could attend to the duties of the office with greater care, or more efficiency, than Mr. Valentine. He deserves not only the solid vote of the Republican party, but the endorsement of every one who believes in retaining the services of so valuable an officer as Mr. Valentine.

The blow which the honest men of Rock county will give fiatism and Parker will make an end of both.

THE COUNTY TREASURY.

Mr. Willis Miles, of the town of Janesville, who has filled the office of county treasurer for the past two years, will be re-elected by a large majority. In handling the funds of the county, he has been accurate, faithful and obliging, and has won the confidence of a large circle of friends irrespective of party. Such a reliable able public officer should not only be re-elected, but his majority should stand among the highest, as a fitting acknowledgment of his worth as the custodian of the people's money.

OUR COUNTY CLERK.

During the past two years, Mr. S. Morgan, of the town of Lima, has filled the position of County Clerk to the highest satisfaction of the great multitude who do business in that office. There is not an office in the county which demands more industry, more care, more hard work, and more accuracy, in order that it may run well, than the office of County Clerk. More business is done there than in any other office, and hence it becomes a position of great responsibility. Mr. Morgan has not been lacking in any of the qualifications necessary to make him a competent and courteous officer. He has been a faithful servant, and will be re-elected.

THE WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY.

Prof. James C. Watson, the noted astronomer, has decided to link his fortunes with the Wisconsin University. He is one of the ablest astronomers in the country, and his conclusion to accept the position of professor of astronomy in our University, is a fortunate thing for the State. The Michigan University wanted him, and offered him flattering money inducements, but like the great Agassiz, not having time to make money, he accepted the offer made by the Regents of the Wisconsin University, and will have charge of the Washburn Observatory. This Observatory, when completed, will be one of the best in the land, and having there such a noted astronomer as Prof. Watson, the State will have the facilities for the advancement of astronomical science, second to no State in the West.

MR. R. J. BURGE.

The Republican nominee for the Assembly in the First District—Mr. R. J. Burge, is a gentleman who commands the good will of all men. He is one of the clearest headed men in that District. His qualifications for a member of the Legislature are held to be first class, even by his political opponents. He is a man of learning, of a most unexceptionable character, of broad common sense, of strong personal influence, of force and industry, and will take rank among the leading men in the Assembly. The Republicans did wisely in placing him on the ticket, and the people of the First District will soundly endorse at the polls the action of the Convention. Let every Republican in his District, and every sound money Democrat, cast his vote for Mr. R. J. Burge.

We have before made mention of the defection of O. W. Traynor, Treasurer of Dodge county, amounting to $30,000. His case was brought before the Circuit Court, but was postponed till after the election for political effect. A dispatch from Watertown, says "the people of Dodge are making a vigorous fight this fall against the candidates of the Democratic ring, of which Traynor was chief, the District Attorney himself being one of the ring candidates for re-election, and the ringsters feared that to set the criminal at liberty now would seriously jeopardize the success of the ring ticket. Hence the putting off of the decision until after election. For deeds that are dark and tricks that are vain the Democratic ringsters of the banner Democratic county of Wisconsin are to be remembered."

WILLIAM GARDNER.

Mr. William Gardner, a successful and an intelligent farmer of Bradford, is the candidate for the Assembly in the Third District, on the Republican ticket. His fitness for the office is acknowledged by one who knows him. He is a straightforward, practical, trustworthy man, and a first class representative of the intelligence of that district. The interests of his constituents will be closely watched and cared for in the Legislature by Mr. Gardner. His election is a fixed fact, but because this is so, the Republicans should not in the least slacken their zeal in working for him. Give him earnest, solid support, and let his majority be an honor to the party in that district.

Mr. William A. Lawrence, the Democratic-Greenback-Fiat-Inflation candidate for the State Senate, has struck bottom. He is advocating fiat money for the people. When a man gets down to that—politically, he is in the last ditch. The result of next Tuesday's work will confirm this.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

That trustworthy public officer and thorough lawyer, John W. Sale, whom the Republicans nominated for District Attorney, will again be entrusted with that office for another term of two years. Mr. Sale has done the county good service in attending to the criminal cases. He has tried a great many cases in which the State was interested, and has been successful in convicting large number of characters whose proper place is in Waupun. Mr. Sale's official record has been so satisfactory during the time he has been in office, that the people will decide by a large majority, to extend his services another term.

BRIEFLETS.

—Wet.
—“Urania” at the Opera house to-night.
—Nash & Lee have moved into one of the stores in Mitchell's block.
—Clark Ranous is gaining his health, and will soon be himself again.

—Prof. A. B. Severance will open his dancing school at Apollo hall on Wednesday evening, November 13th.
—A large sheet of gutta percha hung in the show windows of Prentice & Evenson's drug store proves quite a curiosity to many, and is worth examining.

—Mr. Cannon purposes to build at once a brick block on the site of his buildings burned night before last. This will prove a marked improvement to that portion of the street.

—The choir society of St. Patrick's church will give an entertainment in Lappin's hall to-morrow evening, followed by a social dance in Apollo hall. A joyous evening is promised to all who attend.

—Mr. A. Rider can be found now in the basement under Patrick Connor's saloon, where he will do business for about two weeks when he will occupy the new store now being finished by Milo Curtis.

—The customers of Michael Farrell ought not to desert him now that he has had a bad streak of luck in being burned out, and they will probably still stick to him. He has made arrangements to supply them as usual at Tom Lynch's meat market.

—Next Friday night there will be an open meeting of the Temple of Honor and a public installation of officers. The members of the Temple will meet at 7 o'clock, sharp, and the doors will be thrown open to the public at 8 o'clock. The exercises will be well worth attending.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 34 degrees above and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 39 degrees above. A drizzling rain all day. One year ago at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 31 degrees and 46 degrees above.

MEETING AT MAGNOLIA.

There was a rousing campaign meeting at Magnolia last night. The house was crowded, and the audience was enthusiastic. Mr. Howard presided and introduced H. H. Blanchard, Esq., of this city, who addressed the meeting on the financial question. He was listened to very attentively throughout, and greeted with frequent applause. Mr. Blanchard is one of the most earnest and well-posted speakers in the field, and was highly appreciated by his audience last evening. Magnolia may be set down for a good Republican majority.

THE HYERS TO-NIGHT.

A rich treat will be offered the public at the Opera house to-night, it being the opera bouffe extravaganza of “Urania” presented by the Hyers sisters combination. The musical features of the entertainment are most strikingly attractive, and throughout all runs a vein of wit, fun and burlesque, which makes the entertainment a rich one. The company has been greatly strengthened since it appeared here before. The costumes are elegant, and the scenery fine. The house will probably be crowded in spite of drizzling skies and muddy roads. Seats can be secured at Mosleys without extra charge.

ALL SAINTS' DAY.

Next Friday, the first day of November, is “All Saints' Day,” and will be duly observed in the Episcopal and Catholic churches. This religious festival has been observed since the fourth century. It is the day on which Christians hold in loving memory all those souls who have gone from the church militant to the church triumphant. All the faithful and unknown saints are remembered. It is a day, too, on which to dwell upon the memory of all the dear friends gone before. In this city the day will be observed in the usual manner.

At the Trinity Episcopal church there will be the holy communion at 7:30 o'clock a. m., and an evening service commencing at 7:30 o'clock p. m. An appropriate sermon will be preached by the rector.

At Christ Episcopal church there will be the holy communion and usual morning service at 10:30 o'clock a. m. There will be no afternoon service.

At St. Patrick's church there will be high mass at nine o'clock in the morning.

At St. Mary's church there will be low mass at 6 o'clock a. m. and high mass at 10 o'clock a. m.

BOLD, BAD BURGLARS.

They Enter Fred Feltz Tailoring Establishment and Walk off with $200 Worth of Clothes.

Another heavy burglary was committed last night, the loser thereby being Fred Feltz, the merchant tailor, at No. 85 West Milwaukee street. The burglars gained an entrance by taking out a pane of glass in the front window and then removing a large nail which was driven in above the sash, as secure fastening. The window was then raised and the fellows entered through it, crawling under the work table which was set up close to the window. They then stripped the bars of a large amount of clothing which had been made up on full orders. They took in all some twelve or more pairs of pants, a number of vests and several coats. They left considerable clothing still hanging on the hooks and did not carry off any of the uncut clothes. Whether they were satisfied with what they took, or because frightened away, is still an unsolved mystery. Suffice it to say they managed to get away with about $200 worth of clothing. On the work-table was an unfinished coat, a part of which they took and left the rest. It could have been of any value, but it was not unless possibly they used it to wrap around some of the plunder. Mr. Feltz was at work last night till about 12 o'clock, and the burglary must have been committed between that hour and daylight. The burglary was a bold one as the window through which the entrance was effected is on Milwaukee street, where there are more or less persons going by throughout the night.

A CHURCH CONVENTION.

The Democrats Nominate James Church for the Assembly.

The Doings of the Delegates.

The Democratic Convention of the Second Assembly District met in pursuance of the published call, at the Common Council chamber this afternoon.

The chair, in accordance with a motion, appointed as tellers, C. Lilly, R. B. Williams, J. B. Doe, Jr.

The name of El Connel was substituted in the place of J. J. R. Pease, and H. D. McKinney in place of D. M. Bond.

The two delegates from the town of Janesville were authorized to cast the full vote, that town being entitled to five delegates.

The Convention then proceeded to an informal ballot which resulted: Number of votes cast—21. Necessary to elect—15.

James Church—15. David Davies—1. T. T. Croft—1. J. B. Doe, Jr.—1. John Winans—1.

Mr. T. T. Croft at this stage of the proceedings, withdrew his name. H. D. McKinney named John Winans. One delegate said he was informed that Mr. Winans would not accept the nomination owing to the pressure of business. Others corroborated this statement. Richard Valentine named J. A. Blount, but it was stated that he also declined to have his name before the convention. David Davies was also named. The convention then proceeded to a formal ballot with the following result:

James Church—21. David Davies—1. T. T. Croft—1. J. B. Doe, Jr.—1. John Winans—1.

The nomination of James Church was then made unanimous, and a Committee of three appointed consists of Dr. J. B. Whiton, A. O. Wilson, and M. C. Smith, to wait on Mr. Church and inform him of the action of the convention.

Mr. Church appeared speedily and remarked that he felt very much flattered and honored by the nomination. He wanted them to remember though that nomination was not election, and if he could not have the hearty support of all, and if there was any lukewarmness, he would withdraw and let the convention choose some new man.

The Chairman assured him that there was no lukewarmness and Mr. Church being thus informed of the happy condition of affairs, accepted the nomination.

The Assembly Committee was then named and adjournment taken.

“WEEP NOT.”

(Written on the occasion of the sudden and sad death of Charles A. Colvin and Julius A. Sherer.)

Weep not for them who fell asleep So suddenly on that fatal morn;
Nay, not for them—they never weep In that fair land where they have gone;
For God, who wipes all tears away, With blessing fills his endless day.

In bitter grief you laid them low, With earth and snow upon their breasts;
But summer breezes yet shall blow And roses bloom above their rest;
The resurrection morn shall break, The bands of death—they shall awake.

How much ere that, their souls may grow We cannot tell. We know that then, The very forms you laid so low Shall rise and be your boys again;
Their very forms your arms may clasp, And there they'll never leave your grasp.

I think the Lord, who loved them here, Will love them more in Heaven still;
Hope—more than space this world of tears, And faith bow humbly to his will.
Who hath himself passed through the grave, Who took in love these gentle boys, He gave,

Say of these sleepers! “It is well The gates of pearl to pass within,
For evermore with Christ to dwell, All safe from any stains of sin;
And walk with garments undefiled, Then God will give each back your child.”

MILTON JUNCTION.

—Mr. Homer Bradley has purchased the John Babcock farm up on the marsh and has lately moved on to the same.

—The Northwest railroad has moved the old stockyard from the corner below the lumber office, and built a new one opposite the center of Merchants' row, next to the old freight depot. Rather close quarters.

—Owing to the extremely dark and threatening night, the Colfax lecture was not as large as it otherwise would have been. There was a fine audience however, of about 200, who enjoyed the lecture very much.

Mr. Colfax held a sort of levee, in front of the pulpit, after the lecture, during which all present availed themselves of the opportunity to shake hands with our distinguished guest.

—The State Central Committee having sent the Hon. C. G. Williams into the Northern part of the State, for a few lectures this week, he is unable to fulfill his partial promise to speak here some evening before election.

—Sunday evening last was the occasion of another of those pleasant social gatherings in our community which is such a pleasure to record and so much more pleasant to enjoy, being a silver wedding at the residence and in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Parlick, of the village.

The visit was a complete surprise to the worthy couple whose home was unceremoniously taken possession of by their friends about seven o'clock. About 100 persons thronged the parlors in social converse until about nine o'clock, when mine host and hostess were taken to the kitchen.

At the parlor, when they were suddenly confronted by Rev. Dr. Wardner with his long flowing beard and a twinkle in his eye, who immediately commenced a rapid peroration in the Chinese language by all of which we understood the couple before him were reunited in the bonds of wedlock.

After the removal of the cover from some beautiful presents, consisting of a silver casket, a set of silver knives and forks, a set of spoons and some silver dollars, which in fitting and appropriate words he presented to the bride and groom in behalf of their friends who were present, and accompanied them with a toast that might light life to enjoy their golden wedding under as favorable circumstances and surrounded by as many friends as greeted them on this the close of their 25th year of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdick responded feelingly to the presentation, thanking their friends for their kindly offerings of friendship, after which delightful favors were presented in a bountiful supply of tempting viands prepared for the occasion, after which came the usual hand shaking and good night, and thus ended another of those pleasant episodes that are becoming very fitting landmarks of our social life.

—Mrs. Randall is lying very low at present writing.

—Mr. G. T. Mackey is very low again.

—Temperance lecture at M. E. church, on Saturday last, by Mrs. De Wing. Light attendance.

—By the hand of G. E. Bryant, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, we are in possession of the report for the year 1877-78. Many are of the opinion that these reports are useless lumber, but such is not the case; for they contain some of the most valuable papers and letters which can be presented and are worth a place in any man's library.

—Among the papers in this volume we notice: “Taxation” by President Steele, of Appleton University, Wisconsin; “Fish Culture,” by Hon. William Welch; “Farm Building,” by B. S. Hoxie, Cooksville; “Health in Farmers' Houses,” by Prof. W. W. Daniels, Wisconsin University.
